Abstract: Write a summary of the article. The abstract is a brief review to help the reader quickly determine the purpose of the article and is required in English and in the original language of the publication (only applies if the original text is in German or Spanish). An abstract always appears at the beginning of a manuscript, acting as an entry point for any specialized article.

Keywords: Determine 3-5 keywords or phrases in alphabetical order, separated by commas.

I. INTRODUCTION

This article guides the Knowmads in writing a successful research paper from the first idea to its publication. The research work done by Knowmads is highly recognized and forms an essential part of their contribution to the future that we all deserve. Below you will find the proven steps to a successful specialized publication.

A Journal article consists of 5 main sections, which are usually as follows:

1. Abstract
2. Introduction
3. Research Elaborations
4. Results or Findings
5. Conclusions

II. IDENTIFY, RESEARCH AND COLLECT DATA

Reflect on the theme of your article to examine its feasibility:

- 1) Read already published works in the same field.
- 2) Analyze the relevance of the theme of your paper.
- 3) Attend conferences, workshops, and symposiums on the same or related topics.
- 4) Understand the terms and jargon related to your topic.

III. WRITE DOWN YOUR STUDIES AND FINDINGS

Write your research paper with the ideas and data collected in the previous steps

IV. GET PEER REVIEWED

This is the most crucial step for your publication. Making sure that the draft article is critically reviewed by your peers or by any experts in the field is crucial and is the responsibility of the author. It is always necessary to seek to obtain as many review comments as possible.

What is the peer review policy?

The peer review policy of the "Journal of Multidisciplinary Studies in Human Rights and Science" provides for an editorial review in addition to the peer review that is requested with the proposal submission.

The journal also keeps the possibility of open peer review.

How many Peer Reviews should I include in the Proposal?

To be considered, your manuscript must have at least two peer reviews.

V. IMPROVEMENT AS PER REVIEWER COMMENTS

Analyze and thoroughly understand all reviews provided. After that, make the necessary modifications to your document.

After sending your proposal to the Knowmad Institut, you will receive the feedback from our editorial team in the next 30-45 working days. You can send the updated article within 15 working days for approval and publication.

The final file should be sent through the journal website HERE.

Congratulations this completes all the processes required for the admission and diffusion of your article. Our team of multidisciplinary experts will select the most pertinent articles for publication after an exhaustive analysis of the submitted articles. The selected papers are published (online) under a CC BY-NC 4.0 license and are highlighted according to their level of relevance to sustainable development and human dignity in the framework of the fourth industrial revolution.

VI. CONCLUSION

A conclusion can review the main points of the document, please do not replicate the abstract as a conclusion. A conclusion may explain the importance of the paper, provide recommendations or suggest applications and extensions.
